

Denise Lynn Ward

February 2, 2019

Denise Lynn Ward, (nee Salette), age 65, passed away at her home in Philadelphia, PA., surrounded by family on Saturday, February 2, 2019. She was born on March 9, 1953, in Philadelphia to Vince and Irene (nee Walker) Salette. Denise attended St. Timothy's Grade School in Mayfair, St. Hubert's Catholic High School for Girls, going on to attend Holy Family University. She then earned her PhD in microbiology from Jefferson University, where she went on to have a fulfilling career in the lab and teaching. Following her retirement from Jefferson, she earned a PhD in metaphysics from the American Institute of Holistic Theology. On October 25, 1974, she married Brian Anthony Ward. Together they had two sons, Brian and Vinnie.

Denise is survived by her husband Brian, her sons Brian (Jennifer) and Vinnie, her grandchildren Brian and Sophia, and her sister Debra (Chris) Weidner. Denise traveled around the world, but her love was entertaining in her home, and helping her loved ones entertain in their homes as well.

An accomplished alchemist, she coaxed a flourishing garden of blooms from cuttings she nurtured until they were strong enough to take root. "Namaste."

In lieu of flowers, donations in Denise's memory may be made to:

“ I recall you, Debbie, Maryanne and I having a show in your basement. We were the Beatles, I was Ringo playing the drums. Our parents were also friends and went to each other houses during the holidays . Salettes. Marcellos, Piergos, Urbanskis and the Borecks. Us kids use to hang out when the parents drank!!! Haha. Debbie, Denise will always be with you. You have many memories that no one can take away.

“ Denise was my friend and mentor at Jefferson. She taught me much about microbiology and lab management- and taught me quickly so we could continue with stories and smiles and contemplation about life . We remained friends through time and distance. There were never enough minutes to spend together. I loved her wit, her smile, her sparkling eyes. Thank you, Denise, for all we shared. 🙏

“ I first met Denise when our children, Brian and Jennifer, got engaged. Many years progressed with our family sharing events and celebrations. Denise was always a beautiful and loving person. She loved to entertain and her meals were delicious. When you asked about a dish, she would say "It practically makes itself". She looked beautiful in her sparkling gown at Brian and Jen's wedding. When the grandchildren were born, Brian and Sophia, we just adored them and loved watching them experience everything new. Sophia could be Denise's twin. She would cook with them and they would help serve the meals. Sophia would put her own touch on decorating the table with many of Nonna's things. One of my favorites was when Denise would play the piano and the grandchildren would dance. We shared such beautiful memories. I will keep her memory alive with the grandchildren so they will never forget her love for them. I will love and miss her everyday and keep her in my heart forever.

“ What can I say about my beloved mother in law? She did not believe in linear time, so we are together across dimensions in eternity! She believed in angels, and she is a sweet angel now. Goodbye for now, Denise, our candle in the wind.
