

Jeffrey C. Wilson

December 21, 2018

Jeffrey was born on September 7, 1961 in Upper Darby, PA. to Jack and Ann (nee Markwood) Wilson. He attended Upper Darby High School here he had aspirations of being a chef.

Jeffrey was classically trained in Culinary Arts and received his degree in Culinary Science from the Culinary Institute of Philadelphia. He soon became top executive chef and manager at the infamous White Dog Cafe in University City, PA. He later took his talents to Friends Hospital as its first specialty chef in the Eating Disorder Unit.

Jeffrey's sensitive, loving soul was apparent through his relationships with his daughter, friends, and cats. He was a sound, very honest person and would give his opinion to help ones he loved in need. He would give someone the shirt off his back and ensure that cats without a home would at least have food. He loved his daughter more than anybody, sharing a love of great food, humor, and classic rock with her.

From the kitties: As a lover of animals, particularly cats, his personality would resemble us! Very upbeat, curious at times, and frisky to even shy. He loved to buy us new cat toys, treats, and made sure we were all comfortable and happy! He took many photos to show off our fur coats and give us a great sister to indulge and hug us.

Jeffrey is survived by his daughter Tyler Ann, her mother Carla, in laws Carl and Nancy Johnson, his good friends Millie, Paula, Joe and his eight fur babies Ivy, Sola, Murphy, Cindy, Andy, Gomez, Maggie and Pepper.

I just finished watching Pastor Prince on the Hillsong Channel. He was so inspiring and up lifting .He spoke about the battle that sometimes we think we are in Pastor Prince said the battle is not ours the battle is the Lords. It has been a battle wondering while the Lord took Jeff I must realize that there is no reason to have this battle turn it over to God. God Bless you all Nancy Johnson. love to Jeff. ❤️

“ My dearest Jeff, though we only met a few times in person, I have known all your joys, tears, anger, fears, and dreams through hearing about you from your best friend and mine, Millie Redding. You and Millie spoke 2-3 times a day. Some good days and other bad. You both would have arguments which sometimes would last days or even weeks at a time. Not speaking to one another. It would almost be like you were having a marital spat. But you both were drawn back together in speaking again for the love you both had together. Your untimely leaving us here on earth has really been a shock to both of us, but I know your spirit will remain with the both of us and always in your hearts. Both Millie and I promise to always be here for your daughter, Tyler, as long as we both are on earth. We also send condolences to all family and friends.
