Bill was a gentle, kind soul..always made himself available to aid and comfort in any way possible. He and his darling wife, Mary, never were to busy to give medical, spiritual, and everyday common-sense advice and follow up... Even in the darkest days they both gave thanks and praise to one another and valued the smallest of gifts that you would give in return for the love they showered on each and everyone that came into their lives. the world has lost the light on the hill for the love he shared with his fellow man. RIP angel of His light. ..
